Dear Umar Farooq, P.E., A.M.ASCE

ID# 10076621

Thank you for contacting the American Society of Civil Engineers! Per your request, enclosed is your ASCE membership identification card. Please view www.asce.org/benefits for more information about ASCE and the many benefits of Society membership.

Here are just a few of the benefits you may continue to take advantage of:

Keep Up with Trends in Your Field with state-of-the-art technical information from continuing education seminars, conferences, and publications.

Save Money with benefits such as low-cost insurance, conferences, continuing education, and publication discounts, plus a host of other "member-only" discounts.

Expand Your Career by networking with leaders in your field and learning the management and professional skills that are so valuable in the business world today.

Gain Recognition and Visibility by publishing in a journal, participating on a committee, assuming a leadership position or applying for an ASCE award.

Have a Voice in Policy and Legislation concerning today's civil engineering issues, such as the nation's infrastructure and the environment.

Should you have any questions regarding membership or need additional information, please contact ASCE Customer Service Representatives by phone at 1-800-548-2723 or (703) 295-6300; by fax at (703) 295-6333; or via email at member@asce.org.

Sincerely,
Patrick J. Natale, P.E., F. ASCE
